DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Four stories high and three bays wide, this building is laid in common bond. The building is now abandoned.

The first story is an old storefront which is, for the most part, boarded. It is divided into four bays by three flat narrow and two wider pilasters, all having Corinthian capitals. These support a blank entablature which is topped by a braced cornice. The third bay of the first story contains a double door, each door containing one large sheet glass panel.

Upper story windows are all double hung with one-over-one lights. They have stone sills and flat arch, splayed brick lintels. Fourth story windows are smaller than those of the second and third stories. A moulded belt course appears above the fourth story windows. Above this is a braced, moulded roof cornice with a dentil row beneath.
